Sell Stoves.

The Board of Education for Richmond will offer for sale in front of the court house on Saturday, October 15th, at 2:30 P. M. twenty good second hand stoves.

Two Violators.

U. S. deputy marshals, Mays was in the city last Friday for a few hours having in custody John and Ben Bird, of Jackson county, whom he was taking to London to await the action of the Federal Grand jury. The men are charged with violating the internal revenue laws. They were tried at Beattyville, Thursday.

Good Game.

What promises to be a fast game of football has been scheduled by the Normal School Athletic club for Saturday the 22nd. It will be against the Louisville Male High school, and that institution always has a championship team among the high schools of the state. The game will be played on the Normal school athletic field.

Last Appeal.

There will be a mass meeting of the tobacco growers at the court house in Richmond, Ky., at 10 o'clock a. m., on Saturday, Oct. 15, 1910 to discuss the propriety of pooling 1910 crop of tobacco. There is a new proposition on that insures you against a weak pool. Come and hear it and bring your neighbors. The price of your tobacco is gone unless all get together and pool. Come on and let's save the price of Kentucky's greatest money crop together with the price of your land.

Jesse Combs, Chairman
Board Control Madison Co., Ky.

Accidentally Shot.

A telegram received here Saturday by Mrs. R. C. Stockton, announced the death of her brother, Mr. Henry Nuckols, which occurred near Anacostia, Montana, the result of a gunshot. Mr. Nuckols with several friends, had been on a deer hunt and his untimely death was caused by the accidental discharge of the firearm in the hands of a member of the party. The body will be brought to Versailles for interment. Mr. Nuckols has been in the west for about ten years and has been residing at Anacostia. He is a brother of Messrs. Charles and Samuel Nuckols, of Versailles.

Wrong Date.

In the Panama items of last issue the date of the funeral of Mrs. Joseph Crowe was announced for October 9th. It should have been a week later, the 16th. Rev. Parsons will conduct the services at Panama Baptist church.

One More Bank.

Stanford's third bank and Lincoln county's ninth, called the State Bank & Trust Co., opened its doors at Stanford Saturday and depositors flocked in with their money. The deposits during the day amounted to $23,000. James F. Ramey, bank clerk of the secretary of state department, was on hand and highly complimented the officials of the new institution upon the showing made. He formerly turned the charter over to the bank. Sheriff W. L. McCarty is president and J. W. Hutcheson cashier.

WANTED.—Room and board in private family for young couple. Call this office.

Increasing Business.

Manager Floyd, of the East Tennessee Telephone Company's local exchange has just completed two new lines on the Barnes Mill pike, and other private lines for farmers in the county are contemplated shortly. Richmond is fortunate in having less trouble with telephone service than other towns in the Bluegrass, chiefly on account of its excellent force of operators and a manager who is perfectly familiar with all branches of the business. Since coming to Richmond Mr. Floyd has increased the list from 600 to nearly 800 and most of these are subscribers in remote parts of the county. The average gain has been about 10 per month.

Should Organize.

A sad thing for citizens of Richmond to look at is an "advertised letter" in the local postoffice addressed to "President or Secretary Richmond Commercial club" and no one claims it. Richmond is a much better city than her neighbors, Danville, Lancaster, Mt. Sterling, Stanford or Winchester, yet all of these have commercial clubs and always on the lookout for business enterprises that will aid their city. The capital of Madison has indeed been fortunate in experiencing a steady growth, without the hustle on the part of a commercial club. Think what an organization of this kind could accomplish for such a city. Many manufacturing interests have their eye on Richmond, but without inducements they are liable to go elsewhere.

Farm Sold.

At Kingston the first of the week Mrs. Anne E. Daniels sold to Mrs. Lucy E. Young, a farm of 100 acres for $3,850.

Fine Mare Dead.

The many friends of Mr. Mat Cohen will be sorry to learn that the fine mare, Princess Sonia, which he has been campaigning for the past three years with such great success, died at Springfield, Ills., last Wednesday after a short illness of pneumonia. The dead animal was the property of Mrs. Richard Lowndes, of Danville, and was the peer of all five gaited show mares. Her stable companion, Kentucky's choice has been quite ill but will recover.

Close Call.

What would have undoubtedly been a very destructive fire was narrowly averted last Saturday morning at an early hour at the home of Mr. Neville Moberly. Mr. Moberly was awakened about one o'clock by the cries of his little girl, who asked for a drink of water. Upon entering the kitchen he was met by a room full of smoke, that almost suffocated him, and a section of the ceiling ablaze. A hose nearby was quickly connected and the fire extinguished. A defective flue was the cause. Had not the discovery been made at the time, the occupants would have been lucky to escape with their lives.

One Less.

Madison county is to lose one of its newspapers. At present there are six published in the county, viz., four in Richmond, one in Berea and one at Valley View, but editor Sowers, who has been publishing the Valley View Argonaut, has decided to move his plant to Nicholasville and has leased a building in that city. A special from Nicholasville says: Mr. J. L. Sowers, editor and publisher of the Valley View Argonaut, has leased the red front building opposite the post-office and will in the near future, move his plant from Valley View to Nicholasville. Mr. Sowers has for a number of years published the Valley View Argonaut at Valley View, Ky., and it is his desire to get into a larger field, so he has decided to locate here. A name for the new paper which is to be started probably next week after next has not yet been decided upon, but the paper will be run in the interest of the temperance people and will be independent in politics. Mr. Sowers is a splendid newspaper man and we wish him well in his new adventure.

Building Sold.

C. A. Taylor, of the firm of Taylor & Oldham, the hardware merchants, purchased Tuesday from J. E. Greenleaf, the building now occupied by that firm on Main street. It has a 20 foot frontage and extends back to Water street.

Experts Here.

A. C. Barbeau, of New York, and W. T. Yeatch, of Louisville, two widely known representatives of Floating Mill machinery manufacturers, were in the city last Wednesday and Thursday the guests of Mr. Allen Zaring. Mr. Barbeau has sold machinery for flouring mills in nearly every country in the world and recently installed a big order in the Holy Land, making it possible for the people of that country to enjoy good flour as well as those in this state, where he has sold many mills.

Polite Rasca.

Councilman Everett Berry, of the East End, missed his buggy harness last Saturday evening and gave up all hopes of ever seeing it again, as he thought the thief would make away with it to parts unknown. He was just preparing to give an order for another set Monday morning, when he discovered the stolen harness, or rather borrowed, returned, but thrown over the back fence in a heap. They bore the marks of heavy usage during the short time they were missing, and it is the supposition of Mr. Berry that whoever took them, either gave in to a burning conscience, or just wanted to use them for a short time.

Took Everything.

County Clerk R. B. Terrill and wife, who have discovered the loss of a large quantity of clothes, household furnishings, kitchen utensils and in fact a little bit of everything used about the house. A negro servant, Sallie Ross, was suspected of the theft and a search warrant issued. Officers made a careful examination of the position this sacred store occupied in the historic Blarney stone occupied in the historic Blarney stone, which he decided to take up the grip again. He will also represent Theo. Levi & Co., the fish and oyster firm of the Queen City. His territory will be Central Kentucky and he has already entered upon his new duties, by booking several orders from Richmond merchants.

Postponed.

The protracted meeting, which was expected to begin at the Second Christian church in the East end next Sunday, will be postponed another week on account of the absence of a noted evangelist, who was expected but will not be able to come. The committee hope to announce in a few days a noted pulpit orator who will conduct the services.

Knows It.

Dick, the big fire horse, seems to have more than human intelligence. He is six years old and has been in the service a greater part of that time. When a false alarm is turned in, he seems to realize just what it is more than any of the men, and it is noticeable by the manner in which he goes to the fire. If it is a dangerous blaze, he seems to know it and exerts his ponderous to get there as quickly as possible.

Held To-Day.

The wet weather of last Saturday prevented the joyous outing of the dentists, druggists and doctors, which was planned for Lake Reba. It was to be a fish fry and general good time. The exercises began this afternoon and a goodly sized crowd is out. The supply of fish was not up to the expectations, owing to the bad luck of the anglers, who were unable to make any great catch.

Todd Won.

Edgar Todd, son of Mr. John Todd, of the Todd Edwards Lumber Co., was the lucky person at the opera house last Saturday evening in the drawing for the Moore air tight heater, given away by Manager Baxter. Three numbers were called before a corresponding one in the audience was announced. The young fellow was so overjoyed at his good fortune he could hardly speak. A young couple, just going to "house-keeping," offered him a pretty good price for his prize at the close of the show and he disposed of it.

Frost Saturday.

The early risers of Richmond claim there was a light frost Saturday morning, but throughout the county the tobacco that was standing did not suffer. Reports from different sections show that the frost was hardly visible and not heavy enough to hurt that part of the crop which has not been cut. It is claimed that on account of the heavy clouds, which settled about midnight Friday, the frost was prevented from doing any damage. Tuesday morning signs of a light frost were visible.

Fine Time.

The Elks social session held last Friday evening at the club rooms proved a most enjoyable affair to the large number of brothers present. The feature of the evening was a beautiful description of his travels thru part of Europe by Hon. Jerry Sullivan. Mr. Sullivan described his tour thru the Emerald Isle, as the most delightful trip he had ever taken in his life. Of course he missed the Blarney stone, but said in doing this, one had to stand on his head, on account of the position this sacred stone occupied in the historic Blarney stone, which he decided to take up the grip again. He will also represent Theo. Levi & Co., the fish and oyster firm of the Queen City. His territory will be Central Kentucky and he has already entered upon his new duties, by booking several orders from Richmond merchants.

At It Again.

Mr. Coleman Neff decided sometime ago to quit the road and has been resting up preparatory to selecting a business which would not take him away from home. He went to Cincinnati this week to visit relatives and was offered such a lucrative position with the Commission firm of T. M. Wilson & Co., of that city, that he decided to take up the grip again. He will also represent Theo. Levi & Co., the fish and oyster firm of the Queen City. His territory will be Central Kentucky and he has already entered upon his new duties, by booking several orders from Richmond merchants.

Deaths.

One of the oldest residents of Madison county passed away last Thursday, when Mrs. Abe Gunn died at her home near Clay's ferry at the advanced age of seventy-four. Deceased was a remarkable woman for her age, and up until a month ago, she was going about in seemingly the best of health. Besides her husband nine children survive, one of whom, Mr. Price Gunn resides on North street, this city and Miss Fannie Gunn, who made her home with her parents. The others are scattered over the country. Funeral services were conducted at the home Friday and the remains were taken to Lexington for interment. Deceased was a sister of Mr. Tom McGuire, of this county.

county Ohio. Her parents were born and married in New York, and moved to Ohio in 1832. For sixty years her father was one of the most prominent merchants and farmers in his section. In 1856 she married G. H. Caldwell, who died three years ago. Five children survive: H. H. Caldwell, who lives at the old home at Long Bottom, O., F. S. Caldwell, an attorney at Winchester, Ind.; Mrs. E. C. McDougle, professor of mathematics in the high school at Belaire, O., and Mrs. Susie Merritt, of Columbus, O. Services were held at the home where she died by Rev. E. B. Barnes, Thursday evening, and her body was taken to Ohio for burial Saturday morning, at her late residence. The funeral services were conducted at the request of the family by her son-in-law, E. C. McDougle, and her body was laid to rest by the side of her husband. She had been a member of the Christian church for 38 years. She was a woman of high ideals and was greatly loved by those who knew her. Her sympathy and unselfishness made her a fond mother, a good neighbor and a happy Christian.

Sticks To It.

Circuit Clerk White is so fond of his Panama hat that he declares he is going to stick to it until Xmas. His friends have been trying to persuade him to discard it, on account of the presence of winter breezes the past week, but all the "guying" they hand out to him falls on deaf ears. He claims it is more becoming to him than any hat he owns.

Property sells.

The building on Main street, near First, occupied by Agee & Tevis, barbers and A. J. White, tailor shop and owned by Douglas Parrish, of this city, was sold last week to A. J. Sutt, proprietor of the Rocket store. The consideration was $6,000 and the new owner will take possession the first of the year. The new purchase has a frontage of 20 feet and extends back to Water. Mr. Sutt intends in the near future to extend the building. The new owner will move his store to this place the first of the year, and if necessary he will erect an addition to the present building to extend back almost to Water street. Mr. Sutt is one of Richmond's successful merchants having built up a large business by thrift, energy and fair dealing to all.
